

Kennedy Will Probably Seek Nomination

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) called a news conference today with all advance signs pointing to a formal statement that he is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination.

That would make official what has been no secret for nearly two years — that he will battle in the primaries and at the Los Angeles convention for the prize.

For Kennedy, formal entry into the race apparently marks the final intensive stage of campaign that has carried him into nearly every state and has involved him in several controversies.

Some of those revolve about the 42-year-old senator's Roman Catholic religion. Others stem from his activity in connection with Congress' passage last year of compromise labor control legislation.

He helped push through a bill which organized labor contended would seriously handicap it, and which anti-labor forces said didn't go far enough to clean up abuses.

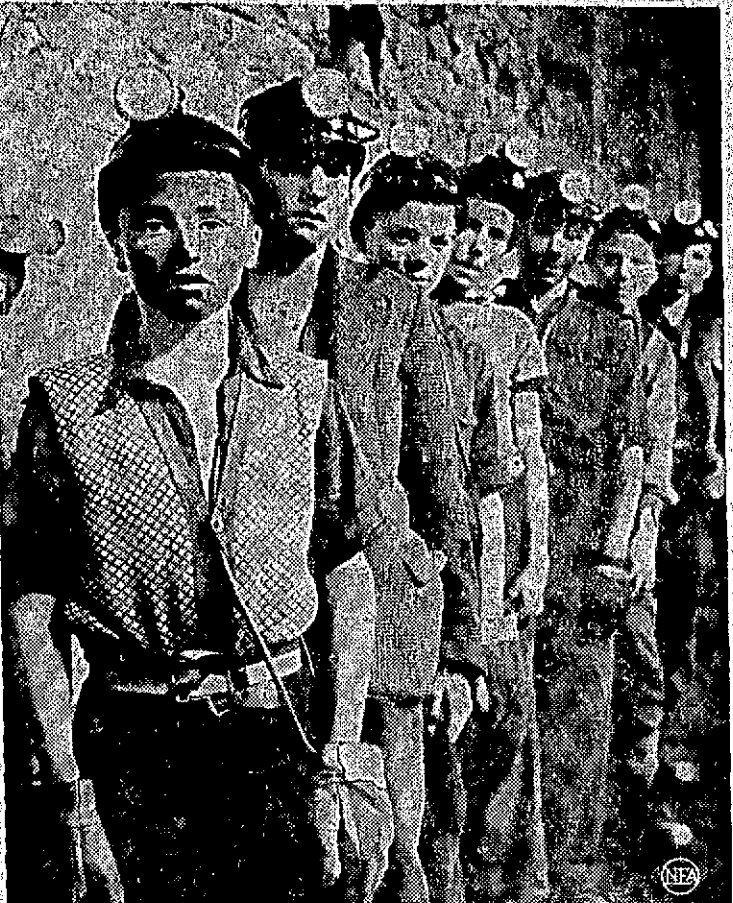

By all the political signs, Kennedy is the front runner for a nomination for which Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) announced Wednesday and which Adlai E. Stevenson, Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) also may seek.

But even Kennedy's ardent supporters concede he hasn't in sight now the 761 votes he would need to win the nomination at the July 31 convention in Los Angeles.

Because of this, the Massachusetts senator is expected to make wide ranging forays into presidential primaries. He has been unable to lure any of his prospective opponents into his New England stronghold and apparently will run alone on the Democratic ticket in New Hampshire's March 8 Democratic primary.

Unless there are unforeseen developments he will take on Humphrey in Wisconsin's April 5 voting. The whole field of aspirants and some of those who claim they are not — apparently will be entered in Oregon's May 20 free-for-all, where a man's name can be entered without his consent.

Kennedy also may enter Ohio's May 3 primary, despite the current opposition of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, himself a Catholic, who wants Ohio's favorite son designation. Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) also may seek favorite son status in the Ohio balloting.

LEARNING THEIR TRADE—With blackened faces, weary teen-age boys line up to leave work in a coal mine of Tredegar Valley, Wales. Like their fathers and grandfathers before them, the boys are apprenticed to learn the dirty, difficult job of digging coal from the hundreds of mines honeycombing the Welsh countryside.

Fire Occurs at Fireman's House

OCONOMOWOC, Wis. (AP) — "Four hours to go and we'll complete December without a fire call," Fire Chief Chauncey Eiden told Police Sgt. Clyde Fullmer at headquarters.

An alarm came in at 10:30 p.m. Firemen extinguished the blaze in a chimney at Sgt. Fullmer's home.

Ex-Con Tells of Killing Mother-in-Law

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Police say a dapper ex-convict calmly admitted this morning that he killed his mother-in-law while the woman's 5-year-old granddaughter listened from an adjacent room.

Police Chief Howard Gillette said Donald Leroy Schoonover told him he was "damn glad it happened" to Grace Turner, about 50.

Gillette said Schoonover, 36, admitted killing Mrs. Turner and arranging the scene to make it appear the woman had been killed by a sex maniac.

While the woman was strangled, Schoonover's terrified granddaughter listened from a bedroom. The man's 8-month-old daughter was asleep.

Schoonover was arrested in a tavern several hours after the killing. Gillette said the sharply dressed supermarket employee offered no resistance, freely admitted the killing, and said he would have killed his ex-wife had she been there.

Young Girl Determined to Be Sentenced

CHICAGO (AP) — A 10-year-old girl appears determined to be sentenced to prison—possibly from 1 to 14 years—rather than accept probation.

Chief Justice Charles S. Dougherty of the Criminal Court Thursday for the second time offered probation for Arleen Rogers, who has been in jail since September after being arrested on two felony counts.

Dougherty earlier entered an order for Miss Rogers to serve 60 days in jail, then five years probation. He noted she had good records in school and at the plant where she worked and had no police record. She was charged with forging two checks totaling $400.

Miss Rogers told Dougherty she didn't want probation, telling him, "I don't think I can make good." The judge ordered her examined by the Cook County Behavior Clinic.

Dr. William Haines told Dougherty he found nothing amiss, only what he called a stubborn streak. Miss Rogers again told the judge she wanted to go to prison.

"If you won't accept probation, I can't force it on you," Dougherty told the girl. "I can sentence you to 1 to 14 years. But I'll continue the case until Tuesday. You'll have to decide."

Soviets May Go It Alone On Disarmament

By A. GOLDBERG

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev hints that the Soviet Union might go it alone in cutting armed forces strength suggested today the opening move in a new maneuver to force the West's hand on disarmament.

The Soviet Premier told a New Year's reception "if the cold war exponents drag us into labyrinth of endless verbal discussion, should we adopt the way onto which they want to prod us?"

"Shouldn't we do some thinking for ourselves, reduce our armed forces unilaterally and entrust the defense of our borders to rockets?"

Khrushchev's declaration, sounded before foreign diplomats among the 1,400 guests at the Kremlin reception, has greeted cautiously in Washington.

But an initial reaction was that the Soviet leader's words may represent the opening move in an attempt to marshal world opinion and pressure the Western powers into accepting his pet disarmament proposal at the East-West talks opening in Geneva March 15.

The proposal, submitted to the United Nations by Khrushchev during his U.S. visit last year, calls for total disarmament within four years.

Khrushchev said in his New Year's Eve statement that "if our proposals are accepted we are ready to dissolve our army any time and all our military will welcome this decision."

Western leaders go along with Khrushchev's proposal in principle but maintain it is too vague on the crucial issue of controls.

They insist that any arms reductions must be guaranteed through a workable control and inspection system.

The Soviet line at past disarmament discussions has called for reduction first, then consideration of controls.

Capital Police Get a Canine Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Intensive training courses start Monday for the capital's first police canine corps.

The unit, recently authorized, is starting with seven policemen and seven dogs. All the animals were donated and the men are volunteers from the existing police force. Experience will determine whether there will be any expansion.

The plan is to use the dogs in cutting through precincts where there are wooded areas.

Faubus Doubts Integration Will Spread

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus doubts that public school integration will spread in Arkansas during 1960.

The governor is not sure whether more Negroes will be admitted to already integrated schools.

Only one integration lawsuit is pending in the state — an action filed by three Negroes against the Dollarway School Board near Pine Bluff.

Faubus said yesterday that integration would not spread because more people are against it now than in 1957 when he called out National Guard troops to temporarily block integration of Central High School here.

The governor said integration probably would be a key issue in the 1960 gubernatorial race. Faubus has not said whether he plans to seek an unprecedented fourth term.

Faubus rode the integration issue to a third term victory in 1958. Later, he closed Little Rock high schools to prevent integration.

The governor was asked if he intends to give up his personal struggle against integration. He replied, "I'm like John Paul Jones when they shot away his mainmast. I've just begun to fight."

Seven Arkansas cities besides Little Rock have some degree of integration. No school has integrated, however, since the Little Rock integration crisis of September, 1957.

'Sire de Maletroit' Offers Local Music Lovers Chance to See a One-Act Opera

By MARY ANITA LASETER

The beginning of a new year and a new decade brings a new type of opportunity for music lovers in Hope and this vicinity. A one-act opera, "Sire de Maletroit," by John Duke, will be presented in the Hope High School auditorium at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, January 5.

Of special interest to those in this area is the fact that the director of the performance is Mrs. Helen Ruffin Marshall, a charter member of the Friday Music Club and outstanding in musical circles, especially in Shreveport, La.

Gilbert Thomas, Musical Education Director at the First Baptist Church, has a role in this presentation which is being sponsored in Hope by the Friday Music Club. Hope is fortunate in having Mr. Thomas as a musical influence in our town, and all are looking forward to his performance in the role of Denis de Beauvoir.

The title role will be played by Earl Davis, and Blanche de Maletroit will be portrayed by Theresia Sandoz. Madame Carre will be played by Josephine Carmody. Irene Struve will be the pianist.

Based on a story by Robert Louis Stevenson, "Sire de Maletroit" is about an eccentric and half-demented scion of an ancient and renowned family. He suspects his ward and niece, aided by her duenna Mme. Carre, of meeting a young captain.

He determines to capture this young man by means of a magical door which he has invented and to force him to marry Blanche, his niece. He feels this will save the honor of their house, which he thinks she has violated.

A strange young nobleman, Denis de Beauvoir, comes in by accident and is trapped by the magical door. The Sire is delighted at having caught the guilty one, while Blanche and Denis are both horrified at the turn events have taken.

Either they must be married in the family chapel before dawn or Denis will be hanged, with the ending to be tragic or a happy ever after type. You'll have to see it to find out.

John Duke, who composed the opera, is best known for his large output of songs, many of which have appeared on the programs of prominent recital artists. "Like Haverall," "Bells in the Rain," and "Loveliest of Trees" are among some of the most popular.

Actress Dies Just Before Going on Stage

By MARY ANITA LASETER

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Actress Margaret Sullivan died Friday, a few hours before going on stage as star of a new play. Authorities indicated she may have unintentionally taken an overdose of sleeping pills.

Miss Sullivan, 48, was found unconscious in her Hotel Taft room. She was dead on arrival at Grace-New Haven Community Hospital.

The actress, nervous and upset had been under the care of a physician for two days. James J. Corrigan, New Haven County coroner, said her death might have resulted from an overdose of barbiturates but added, "I do not believe it was a suicide."

Miss Sullivan had been visited by a physician early Friday and again in the afternoon. Her husband, Kenneth Wang, spoke with her about 2 p.m.

A few hours later, he had to ask the hotel management to force open the door of her room when he found it fastened by a chain lock. Inside he could see her lying in bed, unable to turn him.

Detective Capt. William Holahan said Wang told him Miss Sullivan wished she could get out of show business.

Wang got a doctor for her after the Thursday night performance of "Sweet Love Remember'd," which began a pre-Broadway try-out Monday at the Shubert theater.

Dr. Rafi Toffig said he found Miss Sullivan overdosed and disturbed. He gave her an injection to help her relax, he said. She was still highly nervous when he saw her early Friday afternoon.

Miss Sullivan's trademark in nearly three decades of acting on the stage and in movies was a low-pitched, raspy, growling voice. Her first lead role in 1931 as "Tedd" Simpson in "A Modern Virgin."

Congress Will Regulate TV, Radio Laws

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should Congress pass new laws to stamp out payola, rigging and deception in the television and radio industry?

A number of congressmen think so, and they're ready to go to work on it as soon as Congress convenes next Wednesday. The issue is hot now, says Rep. William L. Springer (R-Ill.).

But Sen. Gen. William L. Rogers thinks the government agencies that regulate broadcasting already have the power to do the job. He says they just haven't been using that power as they should. Another group of congressmen agree with Rogers.

Rogers gave that view in a lengthy pre-New Year's report to President Eisenhower, who had asked him for a study of the situation after congressional investigation laid bare a series of TV scandals.

Rogers did urge two immediate changes in the law: (1) make it a federal crime for a TV or radio employee to take payola — accept a bribe to plug a product on the air, and (2) give the Federal Communications Commission more teeth in punishing stations that don't live up to the mark.

Now the only punishment is the drastic one of revoking the station's license. Rogers suggested lesser penalties, such as temporary suspension of the license or granting of conditional licenses.

Springer wants to do much further in tightening up the law. "I hope we get promptly into such things as better programing and control of objectionable advertising," he said. Springer is a member of the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight which uncovered the TV quiz show mess last year.

Another member, Rep. John W. Moss (Calif.), said he agreed with Rogers. "The FCC and FCC already have the power to do the job."

But he added, "Unless they show willingness and their own conviction to proceed under existing authority, then I feel Congress must direct by legislation that they do the things necessary."

Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex.) said "FCC and FCC simply laid down on the job." He said they should be empowered "to assess money fines against offenders in the industry."

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.) another committee member wants criminal laws across the board for every kind of deceptive TV and radio practice.

$70.6 Million in Taxes Paid to the State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A total of $70,600,000 in taxes was collected by the state Revenue Department during the last six months. This was $4,700,000 more than in the previous six months and Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney predicted the upward surge would continue.

Cheney said he believes the state will collect the 911 million dollars in general revenues appropriated by the 1959 Legislature. It was on the basis of these increased collections that Gov. Orval E. Faubus announced a probable $5 monthly increase in some welfare aid.

The gasoline tax collections increased $448,839 over December of last year, Cheney said, but added that part of this belongs to the November report since it was cut off early last month. The sales tax collections also showed an increase, and collections were up $331,211 over last December. The total sales tax amount was $4,443,168.

Priest Jailed for Forgery, Theft

WEST BRANCH, Mich. (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest was in jail today, charged with forgery and accused of trying to flee with $13,450 in church funds.

The Rev. Francisco Paz, 53, of the archdiocese of Popayan in Colombia, was arrested Thursday on a warrant obtained by Prosecutor Randall B. Clemence.

He was held at the Ogemaw County jail in lieu of $2,500 bond. Clemence said the money belonged to the parish fund of the St. Joseph Catholic church here, where Father Paz had been on temporary assignment since September. He had been in the United States for about two years and had been an exchange student at the University of Michigan.

Clemence said Father Paz obtained the money by signing the name of the parish priest, Rev. Aloysius J. O'Toole, to church checks.

Snow Slows Search for Missing Pilot

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A wide snow storm today prevented an aerial search for a California pilot missing since Thursday on a flight from Rock Springs, Wyo., to Elko, Nev.

Utah Aeronautics Director Harlan W. Bement said officials know the pilot only as Anderson of Sunnyside, Calif.

It was not known whether he was alone.

He left Rock Springs Thursday in a single-engine, low-wing Aircope. He had 4 1/2 hours' fuel supply and expected to fly to Elko by visual references in less than four hours, his flight plan showed.

Bement said a preliminary check of airports had failed to turn up a trace of the plane, and Wyoming authorities were asked to begin checking ranches and towns to see if the plane had been heard or seen.

Bishop Denounces Anti-Semitic Trouble

BERLIN (AP)—Bishop Otto DiBielus went into Communist East Berlin today and combined a plea for freedom with a denunciation of anti-Semitic incidents in West Germany.

The 79-year-old head of the German Evangelical Church spoke to full pews.

He called the incidents in Cologne and elsewhere in West Germany disgusting. They are proof, he said, that the German nation has not overcome its past. He added that the past cannot be killed, but it can be overcome.

Without mentioning the Communists he criticized their preaching by saying that true peace is only possible with respect for others' freedom.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bank of America, the world's largest non-governmental bank, announced today its loans total $9,559,666,241, up $937,779,881 from a year ago.

President S. Clark Beese said the bank's 1959 net operating earnings reached $86,297,920, an all-time high, representing $8.37 per share. The 1958 figure was $77,048,225, or $3.61 a share.

El Dorado and Smackover Vie For Title

By TEDDY JONES JR.
Hope Star Sports Editor

The championship finals of the El Dorado and Smackover Invitational Tournament will be held in Jones Field House tonight.

The battle for third place between the losers of the semi-finals, Waldo and Ashdown, will begin at 7 p.m.

El Dorado's Wildcats tangle with the Smackover Buckaroos in the championship affair beginning at 8:30.

The Big Nine entry, El Dorado, because of superior rebounding strength is rated a slight favorite over Smackover of the 4AA Conference. The Wildcats appear to be well balanced with forwards, guards, and centers. Smackover, on the other hand, is heavily weighted in the backcourt with the scoring strength of Sanders turning in possibly the tournament's best floor game and play making combination.

Smackover's hopes will depend largely on the scoring punch supplied by all conference Sammy Barker who generally scores in the 20 figures for the Bucks. He is aided in both rebounding and scoring by Black and Burnett two husky teammates.

El Dorado advanced to the finals by defeating Lewisville and

Extension of Duck Season Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Fish and Wildlife Service has rejected proposals for extension of the duck hunting season in states which have large numbers of birds in contrast to the general pattern of shortage.

There had been suggestions for extended seasons particularly in Colorado, where the season closed Dec. 14, and in Texas where it closes today.

Recently the service also ruled against an early closing of the season in areas where ducks are in short supply. The season varies in different areas but will be over in all states Jan. 8. That's the day the Arkansas season ends.

The Service said that as a result of varies in migration, caused by weather and food supplies, it is not uncommon for the duck distribution pattern to shift from year to year.

"This scattered states can have more birds compared to the previous year even with the over-all population down sharply," it said.

"This year there apparently has been an unusual shift of adult

Syracuse, Ole Miss, Georgia Bowl Winners

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Syracuse accepted college football's national championship trophy at halftime in the Cotton Bowl, then showed why they won it with a clear-cut 23-14 victory over Texas.

But the mighty Orange, top-ranked and unbeaten in 11 games, had to share New Year's Day bowl honors with shutout victors Mississippi and Georgia and the upset hungry Huskie of Washington.

Sophomore Ernie Davis scored 16 points in the Syracuse victory, the eastern school's first in four bowl titles.

Mississippi rode the passing of Bobby Franklin and Jake Gibbs to a surprisingly simple 21-0 revenge victory over Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl.

Georgia, with Francis Tarkenton doing the passing, also moved through the air for its 14-0 Orange Bowl triumph over Missouri.

Washington, a 7-point underdog, won in the Rose Bowl for the first time in five attempts by stunning Big Ten champion Wisconsin 44-8 on the passing of All-American Bob Schloredt and the running and kicking of George Fleming.

In an all-Texas bowl, host Prairie View A&M routed West 47-10 at Houston. In the Tangerine Bowl, a night game at Orlando, Fla., Middle Tennessee defeated Presbyterian 21-12. A total of 258,880 fans saw the six games. Another 13,500 were in the Sun Bowl Thursday when New Mexico State defeated North Texas State, 28-6.

The amateur side of the postseason festivities finished up today with the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., the East-West Shrine game at San Francisco and the All-American Bowl at Tucson, Ariz. The latter two battles were between all-star teams, while in the Gator Bowl, Arkansas (8-2), which split the Southwest Conference title with Texas and TCU, rated even with Georgia Tech (6-4) of the Southeastern Conference.

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas paired the nation's No. 1 and No. 4 teams in a game marred by temperamental outbursts by players of both teams. The New Orleans Sugar Bowl was a rematch of the famed mid-season battle in which LSU

BOATING IS SAFER DESPITE GROWTH

By WM. T. McKEOWN
Editor, Popular Boating
(Distributed by NEA Service)

Boating becomes safer as it grows more popular.

Reviews of accidents indicate that less than one-half of one percent of boatmen get into serious trouble.

Better boats, seamanship and equipment improve the safety record.

What causes most accidents? Carelessness, foolishness, lack of knowledge—as summed up under the title of "operator negligence." Overloading a small boat, standing up, reckless operation, slipping and falling overboard are common causes of mishaps, according to statistics compiled by the Outboard Boating Club of America.

Lesser reasons include capsizing, swamping by waves or wash of another boat and collision. Study of accidents reports indicate that "hot-rodding" and exuberant operation by youngsters, for instance, are only a very minor cause compared with adult failure to use common sense.

Where do most accidents happen? Not where you might expect—on the open waters of the ocean and the Great Lakes. Instead, rivers, smaller lakes and reservoirs account for 75 per cent of boating fatalities. Possibly the boatman becomes more careless when he is in more sheltered waters and within sight of land.

How is he most likely to get into difficulties? Strangely enough, just by going out for a little dilly-dilly fishing by himself. What happens then is often hard to tell because only an overboarded boat is found. Possibly he leaned too far overboard while reaching out to net a fish. Perhaps he stood up suddenly and lost his balance.

He might have tried the long swim for shore instead of hanging onto his boat while waiting for help. Did he have the recommended preserver cushions along? He might have thought

Folks Need Consolation New Years

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Practically everyone needs consolation on New Year's Day.

Practically everyone feels a mixture of sadness and gladness—and maybe a broun taste in the mouth, too, if he did too much wassailing the night before.

At such a time you can best find comfort in the sages of the ages.

Are you worried because you don't see how you can ever pay all your leftover Christmas bills? Well, cheer up. In 1650 James Howell observed, "Debt is better than death." In 1533, Rabelais wrote, "The Lord forbid that I should be out of debt, as if, indeed, I could not be trusted." And there is an old Spanish proverb to the effect, "Debts are like children; the smaller they are the more noise they make."

Are you annoyed with yourself because you stayed too late at a New Year's Eve party, and was the last guest to go? Brace up, buddy. Remember this fine Norwegian proverb: "A hero is one who knows how to hang on one minute longer."

Do you have a king-size, non-filterable hangover that nothing seems to cure? Don't give up hope. An Italian proverb counsels, "There is a remedy for every-thing except a broken back." In 1667, Charles Cotton wrote, "A night of good drinking is worth a year's thinking." And a fine old Scot proverb proclaims, "They that drink longest live longest."

Has your wife been bawling you out? Don't let her get you down, friend. Recall the truth of what

The schedule of Solunar Periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours, there after. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Mechanic Crushed Beneath a Car

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—A mechanic was crushed to death beneath a car at his garage yesterday.

Victor Williamson, the victim, was working beneath the auto held by a chain hoist, when the car fell on him, Coroner Robert D. Harris said.

Harris said the man had been dead several hours when the body was found.

John Davies pointed out in 1802, "There never was a wife that liked her lot." Or what Stanislaus Leszczynski, King of Poland, said in 1793, "Have the courage to listen to her when you should not."

If you have the strength, you might even fight back by reminding your hausfrau what William Shakespeare said about a wife's duty: "I will attend my husband, be his nurse, diet his sickness, for it is my office."

It is entirely normal to be a bit upset on this day. As Charles Lamb said, "No one ever regarded the first of January with indifference. It is the nativity of our common Adam."

Happy new year!

CHAPTER XXX

Choosing the only route of escape that presented itself to his dazed awareness, he darted past the lighted window, across to the open doorway and into the house. Grasping the door, a heavy oak panel, he pulled it forward from the wall and, throwing himself against it, slammed it to. Finding the inside catch, he reached up and turned it. As he whirled about, the room, the fireplace against the adjacent wall, the piled boxes all passed before him in a dim blur. Realizing that to run across the room and into the dining room beyond would mean exposure before the window, he flung himself forward toward the arched doorway leading into the dark hall.

Running, he knocked against the bridge lamp and set it tottering, but he continued heedlessly on. And then, as the lamp fell behind him, there was a sharp, explosive report, and the scene vanished into darkness. Davey stopped, drawing up short.

Outside, the dark man's fists fell angrily against the locked door, the blows echoing into the hallway, dining room, Davey's ears. Looking behind he stared into the dim, empty eye of the bare window at the front of the hallway, then turned quickly back to the darkness that lay ahead.

The doors, he remembered, led from the hallway to almost all the rooms of the house: the bedrooms, the bathrooms, even a closet or two. There was one at the back that opened into the kitchen. That one, he thought, was the last one on the left. And then from the direction of the living room, there came a terrible shattering of glass. Davey, glancing back in fear, moved closer to the wall. The dark man had broken in through the window!

Davey slipped through the doorway, found the knob, and, being very careful not to make any sound, pulled the door closed after him. Turning, he stopped to consider where he was, wondering if there were other doors in the room through which he might escape if he needed to. He put his hands out before him and crept slowly forward. He had taken only two furtive steps, however, when his hands came in contact with a wall. He pulled back, stifling a small cry of dismay. He had closed himself into a closet!

And then there was a crash as a door was flung open somewhere at the end of the hall. Footsteps came forward, hesitated, stopped.

"You better come on out!" the dark man roared. "You're just making it harder on yourself!" There was a pause. "You hear me?"

Unaware that he had moved, Davey started as his shoulder came in contact with the wall. Then, reaching out, he found the corner at the outer wall and huddled into it, making himself as small and still as possible.

The footsteps started forward again and came up to a position almost directly outside. Then there was a scraping sound up against the panel as a hand moved across it in search of the knob. After a moment it found it, and the knob turned. The door swung open. The sound of labored breathing and the reek of liquor reached in to Davey and touched him with an almost physical impact.

Davey knew the advantage of his smallness and he was prepared to employ it to the utmost. Still, in his small, trembling soul there rested little hope.

Doon had found him and in a moment it would surely reach out and snatch him up.

The moment continued, breathless, taut. The dark man remained, his hand on the door, apparently lost in thought. Davey clung to his corner in the darkness, his body tensed for flight.

And then, finally, there was the sound of the man's hand falling away from the knob.

"Doubled back on me," the dark man muttered to himself. He started away toward the front of the hall.

As the footsteps receded back, Davey felt his body go limp with relief. He heard the man moving about in the living room. There was a pause. The lock turned on the front door, the door opened and, after a moment, closed again.

Even then Davey did not move. Perhaps the man had gone but he could return at any moment. A minute passed, two. The house remained still. Boasting himself forward, Davey edged over to the door and peered out. He started to shove the door fully open, then drew back as the fully dashed a spattering of rain against the window at the front of the hall. Waiting until he had recovered from this new fright, he started out again.

Finding the wall with his hand, he followed it back in the direction of the kitchen. After a few feet he found the door that led into the dining room. Moving in stealth, making not the faintest whisper of sound he passed on, he found the wall again and followed it toward the next door. The next, he was certain, would be the one leading into the kitchen. When he came to it, he stopped. Feeling the frame, he reached across and found that the door was closed.

The world seemed to explode suddenly in his face. The door flew open and crashed thunderously against the wall. Davey looked up, his eyes and mouth torn wide with fright. Directly before him, silhouetted toweringly against the windows at the far side of the room, the dark man turned and lunged toward him. Davey screamed.

Acts of God Bring Failure to Red Farms

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

Twin forms of failure—human and acts of God—have combined to write an amazing story of failure for grandiose agricultural schemes among the Communist nations.

China's ancient enemies of flood and drought have combined with earlier failures to the point where millions of its rapidly expanding population face a real threat of starvation.

Red China admitted it grossly over-estimated its 1958 farm production and has paved the way for further such admissions in 1959. To help take the load of communal kitchens set up when the Reds herded millions of Chinese peasants into vast agricultural combines, the government has been forced to encourage peasants to resume growing their own food. In some instances, individual plots of land have been restored.

Sabotage Stories Spread
The story of miscalculation, sabotage, and ravages of nature extends from Communist East Berlin, through Moscow to Peking.

In East Berlin, a high-ranking member of the party disclosed that farmers opposed to collectivization of their lands were setting farm property on fire, poisoning cattle, committing other acts of sabotage and assaulting Communist organizers. The situation, he said, had become "alarming."

About half of East Germany's farm land now is included in the collectivized.

In Moscow, where Premier Nikita Khrushchev took personal charges of the drive to surpass United States agricultural production, Khrushchev himself admitted that this year's harvest was the worst in four years.

Some of it he blamed on the weather, the rest on "leaders who do not understand a thing about agriculture."

Voices: Perennial Complaint
He voiced a perennial complaint that farm machinery was allowed to fall into disrepair, and complained again about the growth of bureaucracy.

Similarly, in Poland, the government has admitted that agriculture has not kept pace with industrialization, and there, as in China, a program of austerity has been proclaimed. In Poland, the situation might have been worse, but for emergency shipments of surplus wheat from the United States.

In Poland and Hungary have launched vigorous campaigns to overcome the farmers' opposition to government run collectives. The Polish farmer would rather have his own horse than a government tractor.

Hungary, which formerly was able to export food products, now must import.

Peasants Remain Stubborn
Romania is in the midst of a ruthless campaign to force farm land into collectives over the opposition of peasants who remain stubborn over nearly 15 years of Communist rule.

In Bulgaria, the government's desperate drive for collectivization has resulted in a campaign whose harshness has been compared to Red China's communal system in breaking up traditional family patterns.

Communist leaders will not accept these setbacks as permanent, nor will hunger among any people be a cause of satisfaction to the West.

But they illustrate that the Kremlin's "perfect" society still is unable to collectivize nature, human or otherwise.

Small Cars on Tax Discuss Impact of LITTLE ROCK (AP)—VIII the growing population of small cars continually have an impact on gasoline tax revenues—since they don't drink as much as regular-sized autos.

That question was posed at the Arkansas Highway Users Conference yesterday.

Arthur Spatz, conference vice chairman, said:

"I hope it doesn't have an impact on the revenues from taxes because I definitely want no more highway bond issues. We're already under heavy enough obligations on highway bonds."

A. C. Taylor of Fort Worth, regional engineer for the Bureau of Public Roads, said he saw no effect on tax revenues because he views the small car as a family's "second car."

John Couter of Little Rock, an engineer for the BPR office here, said highways may have to be redesigned for small cars because of the sight-distance feature. "The small lot is not so visible as the standard car. You see them in less time."

Road Block Catches 13 Drunken Drivers

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The Iowa Highway Patrol arrested 13 persons for drunken driving in its New Year's Eve "road block" campaign to force intoxicated drivers off the road, the patrol said today.

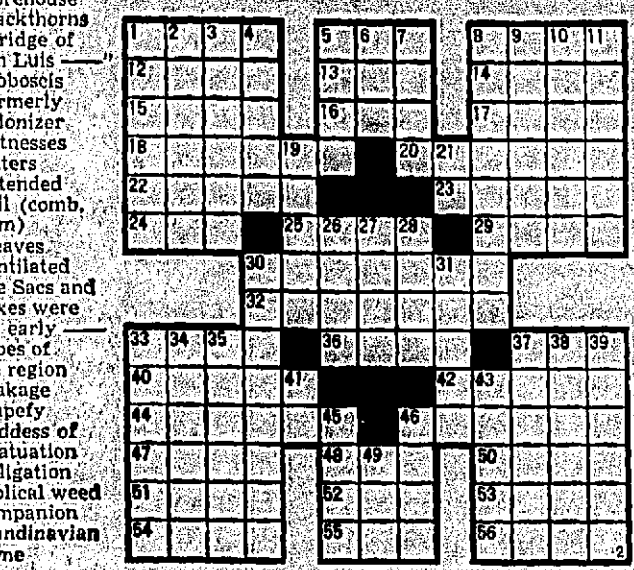

Chief David Herrick said in a preliminary report on the campaign that 300 patrolmen set up 178 road blocks and stopped 5,063 drivers.

Licenses of the 13 arrested were suspended, Herrick said. "This is more than twice as many drunken drivers as we would pick up on, for instance, Saturday night," Herrick said.

ONLY WHEN ILL

Or does your concern extend its self to his other needs?
He may need someone to lead him too, when he is well... to guide his very destiny. However, when he is seriously sick, it's a mighty good time to measure your real care, the extent to which you go to make a man of him. Of course his physical well-being is your responsibility, but since his spirit belongs to God, maybe you should have concern for it too. Don't quit the job half finished. Help him get well, but then help him get saved...
help him get to church.
